

Section 235[6]. The defendant may set up against the creditor all defences which he may have against the debtor, excepting those which arose after the entry of the action.

(old text 408; Tunis. 307).

235⁶. - The defendant may set up against the creditor all defences which he may have against the debtor, excepting those which arose after the entry of the action.

(old text 408; Tunis. 307).