

TITLE XVII.

COMPROMISE.

850 266. - A ~~contract~~ of compromise is a contract whereby the parties ~~agree to~~ settle a dispute, whether actual or contemplated, ~~between them~~ by mutual concessions.

851 267. - A contract of compromise is void unless made in writing.

852 268. - The effect of the compromise is to extinguish the claims abandoned by each party and to secure to each party the rights which are declared to belong to him.

853 269. - The parties to a compromise are liable for defects or for eviction as provided in the Title concerning Sale.
