

102. — A person who acts for another, believing that he is acting for himself, has only an action for undue enrichment against the principal.

103. — If the manager acts for one person, believing that he is acting for another person, the first named person only has the rights and duties arising out of the management.

104. — If the principal expressly or impliedly ratifies it the management is transformed into a contract of agency.

The principal who knew of the management and did not object to it within a reasonable time is deemed to have ratified it.

TITLE III. UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

CHAPTER I. LIABILITY FOR UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

[105. — A person who has made a prestation which was not due, or was no longer due, believing that such prestation was due, is entitled to restitution from the person who has been unduly enriched by such prestation.]

102.—A person who acts for another, believing that he is acting for himself, has only an action for undue enrichment against the principal.

103.—If the manager acts for one person, believing that he is acting for another person, the first named person only has the rights and duties arising out of the management.

104.—If the principal expressly or impliedly ratifies it, the management is transformed into a contract of agency.

The principal who knew of the management and did not object to it within a reasonable time is deemed to have ratified it.

TITLE III.

UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

CHAPTER I.

LIABILITY FOR UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

105. — A person who has made a prestation which was not due, or was no longer due, believing that such prestation was due, is entitled to restitution from the person who has been unduly enriched by such prestation.

[TEXT UNDER TAG]

102. — A person who acts for another, believing that he is acting for himself, has only an action for undue enrichment against the principal.

103. — If the manager acts for one person, believing that he is acting for another person, the first named person only has the rights and duties arising out of the management.

104. — If the principal expressly or impliedly ratifies it the management is transformed into a contract of agency.

The principal who knew of the management and did not object to it within a reasonable time is deemed to have ratified it.

TITLE III. UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

CHAPTER I. LIABILITY FOR UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

~~105. — A person who has made a prestation which was not due, or was no longer due, believing that such prestation was due, is entitled to restitution from the person who has been unduly enriched by such prestation.~~

102.—A person who acts for another, believing that he is acting for himself, has only an action for undue enrichment against the principal.

103.—If the manager acts for one person, believing that he is acting for another person, the first named person only has the rights and duties arising out of the management.

104.—If the principal expressly or impliedly ratifies it, the management is transformed into a contract of agency.

The principal who knew of the management and did not object to it within a reasonable time is deemed to have ratified it.

TITLE III. UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

CHAPTER I.

LIABILITY FOR UNDUE ENRICHMENT.

~~105.—A person who has made a prestation which was not due, or was no longer due, believing that such prestation was due, is entitled to restitution from the person who has been unduly enriched by such prestation.~~