

119. — After liquidation the remaining assets, if any, shall be transferred to such juristic person as may have been designated by the instrument of foundation.

120. — If no juristic person has been so designated, the remaining assets become the property of the State.

— o —

119.—After liquidation the remaining assets, if any, shall be transferred to such juristic person as may have been designated by the instrument of foundation.

120.—If no juristic person has been so designated, the remaining assets become the property of the State.

— o —